THE RELEASE OF THE ST. ALBANS

RAIDERS.

Decision of the Judge in Melensing them.

MATRIMONIAL!-LADIES AND re-opened on Tuesday, December 13th, in ntiemen, if you wish to marry, address the un- Montreal, the court-room being crowded. Mr. Herr, in behalf of the prisoners, de-livered a lengthy argument to show that sembling at three in the afternoon. Mr. Justice Coursel, on taking the bench, said the matter in question was most important, since his authority had seen denied. He had given the argument in both sides his most serious consideraon, and had come to the conclusion that the case came under the Imperial Act, and that he was bound to obey the Impe eaty had not received the special reyal nction requisite. The case was a most xeaptional one, and being a treaty mat-er between the two nations, he could do called a to other than allow our own act to give way before that of the Imperial Legisla-

are. The revised imperial act must rule perein; and that act required that the warrant under which the prisoners were arrested should be signed by the Gover-nor-General. If the court could have eserved the point for a higher tribunal t would gladly have done so. But since the liberty of the subject was involved here admitted no delay; and since he had not had the warrant of the Government he had come to the conclusion that the court possessed no jurisdiction in the case, and he must order the immediate releas of the prisoners. This announcement was received with applause by a number of persons present, but the demenstration was instantly

Mr. Derlin then arose, and in a most impassioned speech implored his honor not to order the discharge of the prisoners upon the remaining indictments, but in fairness and justice both to the counsel for the United States and for those of the private presecutors, the banks, to allow of a hearing. He contended that the prisoners could be discharged only on this one par-ticular indictment, and the Court owed it to the counsel to be heard on the others. Should it be said in an English Court of estice that the Judge having decided i favor of the prisoners in one case, he im-mediately discharged them in six others? What would be said outside? The counsel or the delense themselves know that the ourse which the Court had taken was unrecedented. Had not his honor issued in warrante, and yet he had but one warrant before him. He called solemnly on the Court to hesitate. He (Mr. Derlin) could not remain allent whilst thirteen men, charged with robbery, and even unrder, were allowed to go at liberty without their several cases being investi-gated. Our good name for justice and fair lay was at stake, and though some amous us might be sympathizers with the pri oners, he had yet to learn that they set at nought the jewel fair-play. He again called upon the Court to besitate before lischarging these men, and give the counsel for the prosecution a chance of being heard; for here the mot important interests of all were at stake, viz: international ones. He gain implored the Court not to order this vholesale delivery. He would put it to the Court, was it treating the counsel for the defence with fairness? If the court should persist in doing this, then we must be prepared to take the consequences. No country had dealt fairer with England in extradition matters than the United States. Their judges combined to give effect to the extradition treaty. The judges of the Supreme Court had concurrent jurisdiction with his Honor, and had the counsel known of the probable course of his Honor, they would have desired in Court to allow these judges to have a seat on the Bench slong with him. Mr. Derlin again, or the last time, besought his Honor to hesion of the prisoners. Mr. Johnson (Q. C.) arose and said that both those who represented the United States and those who represented the private interests in this affair, had upon them a grave responsibility. But he Mr. Derlin was mistaken in the view which he tock of the judgement of the Court when he supposed that it meant that the prisoners had been dis-charged on the one charge which had been tate before he finally ordered the libera-investigated.

The Court here said that Mr. Derlin and understood the judgement right. The soners were discharged in every case be-Meers, Kerr, Abbott and Laffamme, counted for the prisoners, objected to any calling in question of the judgment. Mr. Ross, counsel for the United States, wished to speak. He said he did not inend to call his Honor's judgment just delivered in question.

The court declined to hear further, say-ng that if he had no right to arrest the ien on one charge, as he held that he had not, then neither had he a right to detain hem on any others. These men had been errested on magistrates' warrants, upon his own, and then on motion of the police; and now, when his honor's own jurisdiction was called into question because his warcants were null and void, he saw that he had been mistaken, and it was the duty of every British Judge, on finding that, to rectify his errors. The court therefore op-dered that the prisoners he impsediately discharged, and was prepared to incur the responsibility of its own act.

Applause again broke forth in the court but it was again instantly checked. In a few moments the prisoners walked through the court-room, and were congratulated by a few of their acquaintances, and when they emerged from the building a few voices were raised in something meant to be a cheer. They then separated, look-ing pleased at their enlargement, and the owd at once separated.
